WARSHIPS TO TEST FORTRESS MONROE

Will Attack Principal Defense of the Chesapeake and Cities of Washington and Baltimore on June [illegible]

WASHINGTON, June [illegible]—Sixteen warships will attack the defenses of Washington and Baltimore at midnight June [illegible] and continue their offensive operations for [illegible] days and nights. Meanwhile the fortresses along Chesapeake bay and the Potomac river, constituting the artillery districts of the [illegible] Washington and Baltimore, will put forth every defense of which they are capable.

Whilst the struggle is to be bloodless, practically [illegible] devoid of the spectacular and interesting only to the army and navy experts who are playing the game and know the constructive effect of the unloaded mines and the empty shells.

These exercises are to constitute the only joint operations of the army and navy during this year. They have been designated joint exercises to distinguish them from the more elaborate program of combined army and navy maneuvers which were first planned but which failed of approval for lack of an adequate appropriation from congress. The operations are to be conducted under rules which have been agreed upon by a joint board of army and navy officers.

Maneuvers are to apply to operations where actual war conditions are simulated while exercises mean only that certain prescribed problems are to be attempted.

In the present instance the object of each of the several forms of attack by the navy will be to demonstrate the strength or weakness of some particular phase of the defense.

The Program

From the information obtainable the program first contemplates the test of Fortress Monroe. Expert military opinion has long held that this fortress is the principal defense of the Chesapeake and consequently of the cities of Washington and Baltimore.

The hostile fleet has been assembled under command of Rear Admiral Francis Dickins. On June 10 Rear Admiral Dickins will hold his last communications with shore. He will not divulge his plans or place of first attack but it is the supposition that he will put to sea having technically established a base at Norfolk. Anchor is to be weighed June [illegible] and from then on on [illegible] [illegible] seek will be indulged in between the artillery and the navy that the shortcomings of the [illegible] may be definitely known at midnight of June [illegible].

It is explained that the night attacks are to ascertain the efficiency of the searchlights of the fortifications and also to give the navy exercise in constructively making these lights dark. To render this exercise the more effective the ships of the squadron have been painted four colors.

Artillery fire will be directed on the ships as they are picked out by the lights but for this exercise the mines are not regarded as in existence. Tabulated observations of what is accomplished for each side are to be made by the umpires and observers. On each ship will be a naval umpire and an artillery observer and in each fortress will be an artillery umpire and a naval observer. None of the big guns of the navy will be fired neither will the big guns of the fortifications be heard.

PETER L. KIMBERLY, MILLIONAIRE, DEAD

CHICAGO, June 4—Peter L. Kimberly prominent throughout the United States and Canada in mining circles died here today of apoplexy. Mr. Kimberly's wealth is estimated at $10,000,000. He has been interested in many mines throughout the west. Much of his time was spent in traveling but he maintained offices in Chicago, Salt Lake and San Francisco.

NON-COMBATANTS ASKED TO LEAVE

VLADIVOSTOK MAY BE THE SCENE OF BLOODY CONFLICT IN THE NEAR FUTURE. CAVALRY ACTIVE.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 4—A dispatch received here says that all non-combatants have been ordered to leave Vladivostok.

TOKIO, June 4, 6 p. m.—Lieut. General Linevitch is believed to be at Kungchuling eight miles west of Fakoman with his main force, his advance guard occupying the Fengewa and Haungchu line.

TOKIO, June 4.—It is announced at Imperial headquarters that the following has been received from the headquarters of the Manchurian armies:

At 7 o'clock on the morning of June 2 the enemy's cavalry numbering about [illegible] came to Slashahotzu, [illegible] miles east of Changtu. On the same day at noon cavalrymen of a like number appeared at Natchengtsu but were repulsed. On the same day also our scouts attacked the enemy's cavalry five miles north of Changtu railway station killing one man and two horses and capturing one saddle horse. Otherwise there has been no change.

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH AMBASSADOR

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Baron Speck von Sternberg, the German ambassador, spent two hours in conference with President Roosevelt at the White house tonight. As he left the White house at 11 o'clock the ambassador said he could not discuss the subject of his talk with the president as it related to matters of an entirely confidential character. There is every reason to believe however that much of the time was occupied with a discussion of the general question of war between Russia and Japan and the possibility of peace. The ambassador, in response to a direct question regarding the prospect of peace said that so far as he knew there had been no progress in that direction in the past 24 hours.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL DAY WAS OBSERVED

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Confederate Memorial day was observed today with appropriate ceremonies in the Confederate sections of the Arlington National cemetery. President and Mrs. Roosevelt sent flowers and regrets at inability to attend in person.

CONCERT HALL SCENE OF PANIC

MANY INJURED IN CONFLICT BETWEEN AUDIENCE AND POLICE.

TROUBLE GREW OUT OF REFUSAL OF ORCHESTRA TO PLAY FUNERAL MARCH FOR THE DEAD

ST. PETERSBURG, June 4.—A great demonstration [illegible] exciting in the Pavlovsk garden [illegible] Tsarskoe Selo the [illegible] persons present claimed for [illegible] funeral march in memory of the Russian sailors who had lost their lives in the naval disaster in the sea of Japan. The [illegible] of the orchestra became alarmed and fled from the platform when M. Novikoff, former mayor of Baku, rose and said:

Let us all, by rising, show respect for the victims. Down with the war. We have had enough blood.

Some eighty policemen entered the hall and elbowed their way through the crowd toward M. Novikoff whereupon cries were raised of [illegible] the police. Chairs were hurled at the police, the crowd being led by a colonel with drawn sword. The policemen fled precipitately.

Order being restored, a number of [illegible] were delivered on the [illegible]. Suddenly the police, reinforced to [illegible] 200 and 200 again, invaded the hall and rushed on the audience with drawn swords. The people defended themselves with chairs and sticks but after ten minutes were driven from the hall into the garden where there was a battalion of guards who raised their rifles to their shoulders preliminary to the order to fire, causing a panic. The people fled toward the exits and finding them closed smashed the doors and windows of the hall and thus gained the street. Many persons were injured, some so seriously that they had to be taken to a hospital.

M. Novikoff was arrested and the gardens were occupied by police and Cossacks. A strong military force was placed on the road leading from Pavlovsk to Tsarskoe Selo and to St. Petersburg and at the railway stations. People returning to St. Petersburg from the gardens spread accounts of the affair which soon became a general topic.

Pavlovsk is 15 miles from St. Petersburg and is a summer resort for inhabitants of the capital. Concerts are given in the gardens there daily and are frequented by fashionable audiences, largely composed of people from St. Petersburg.

TO RECOGNIZE ALL PASSPORTS

NEW LAW IN RUSSIA PERMITTING HEBREWS TO VISIT THAT COUNTRY WITH IMPUNITY.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Acting Secretary Loomis of the state department has been officially informed by Ambassador Meyer at St. Petersburg of the provisions of the proposed new law in Russia under which all American passports including those for citizens of the Hebrew faith will be recognized there. This information is confirmatory of the press dispatches of a week ago.

These dispatches aroused the [illegible] of the empire of [illegible] of the passports commission which [illegible] universal recognition of foreign passports.

M. [illegible] has communicated the [illegible] for [illegible] dis[illegible] [illegible] of this city [illegible] of the civil and religious right [illegible] of the [illegible].

LIGHTNING STRIKES CHICAGO CHURCHES

CHICAGO, June 4.—During a thunderstorm here today three churches were struck by lightning and two of them are completely destroyed. The storm was the worst of the season and besides the churches several other buildings were struck and damaged.

The total loss occasioned by the lightning is estimated at $200,000. The two churches destroyed were Unity church in Oak park and the Sacramento Avenue M. E. church, Sacramento avenue and Adams street. North Englewood Congregational church was also struck but the damage was slight.

At the time the storm passed over the city the churches were empty and no loss of life occurred.

WARM WELCOME TO AMBASSADOR REID

LONDON, June 5.—The London newspapers this morning extend the warmest welcome to Whitelaw Reid, the new American ambassador. The Morning Post in an editorial expresses the opinion that Anglo-American relations are nearing the stage when the [illegible] and should find expression in terms of politics.

STRIKE WILL TAKE NATURAL COURSE

Peace Negotiations Are Abandoned With Result That Chicago Industrial War Will Spread or Union Will Be Defeated.

CHICAGO, June [illegible].—A [illegible] of the [illegible] strike by mediation seems as remote [illegible] the negotiations begun last week [illegible] adjustment of the difficulty [illegible] abandoned for the present at least and the strike [illegible] according to President Shea of the Teamsters [illegible].

A natural course means one of two things: either a spread of the [illegible] defeat for the [illegible] business firms [illegible] refuse [illegible] about [illegible].

Peace [illegible] said Levy Mayer [illegible] for the [illegible] the strikers. The [illegible] the whole [illegible] President Shea because he has [illegible] [illegible] of his [illegible] this way that a settlement can be reached now [illegible] for the strikers to acknowledge defeat.

"The employers blocked a settlement last night," said President Shea today. "Their objection to the men wearing union buttons and a refusal [illegible] discriminate [illegible] of the strike [illegible] that prevented the calling off of the strike.

We [illegible] strong [illegible] we are [illegible] that we began [illegible] practically [illegible] engaged in business are [illegible] day and are getting [illegible]. This will soon be [illegible] and sue for [illegible] perfectly satisfied [illegible] as they are and we [illegible] accept any proposition which would in any way affect [illegible] of the Teamsters.

Important Meeting

The [illegible] of the strike depends upon a meeting to be held tomorrow between the team owners and the Commission Merchants Team association for the purpose of deciding whether the two associations will make deliveries to strike bound houses. The two organizations have been anxious all along for this question to be left to arbitration and at a meeting of the Chicago team owners last week the teamsters were given five days in which to come to a conclusion in the matter. The teamsters in turn put the question up to the Truck Drivers union for a referendum vote as the greater portion of the employes of the Chicago Team Owners association belong to this organization. This vote is to be taken on Tuesday. The majority of the members of these two teaming organizations is said to be in favor of making deliveries to the boycotted houses and should their drivers refuse to do so it is the general belief that all of these men will go on strike. This would bring several thousand more workmen into the strike.

Albert Young, former president of the Teamsters union for whom a capias was issued yesterday, has not yet been found.

BIG MILWAUKEE BUILDING BURNS

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—The Milwaukee exposition building occupying a city block, was totally destroyed by fire this evening. The loss is $300,000. The fire is supposed to have been started from an electric wire.

At the time the fire broke out there were 1,000 persons in the building but all got out in safety.

INVESTIGATE CONDITION OF RUSSIAN SHIPS AT MANILA

Admiral Enquist Claims Warships Aurora, Oleg and Jemtchug Are Not Seaworthy, Being Damaged and Without Supplies or Fuel.

MANILA, June 4.—Rear Admiral Train has appointed the following board to investigate the condition of the Russian warships which arrived here yesterday and said to be in unseaworthy condition:

Commander Calkins, Lieut. Commander McElroy and the Ohio's carpenter Harding. The board will begin its investigation of the warships immediately. Rear Admiral Train has offered the Russian ships the necessary coal in lieu of fourteen days stay here but there is a question whether the Russians will be able to carry such quantity of coal on account of their damaged hulls.

The deaths today aboard the Russian ships now bring the total of killed up to 41 and there are five additional cases in the hospital. American navy surgeons are assisting the Russian surgeons in their work of caring for the wounded. Rear Admiral Enquist now claims that he lost his flag to the Aurora and left the fight Saturday night. He said that he did not know that the fight was continued Sunday. He declared that the Japanese attack was so sudden and ferocious that his action was completely overwhelmed. The ships of his section while attempting to reach Vladivostok were at the same time looking for a fight with the Japanese and when they encountered their opponents fought gallantly. The Russian ships steamed into Manila at a speed of fifteen knots. The Russians are now taking on food supplies.

MANILA, June 4.—The naval board which has examined into the condition of the Russian warships [illegible] reports that the Oleg will require sixty days, the Aurora 30 days and the Jemtchug seven days to effect repairs. Admiral Enquist has requested permission to repair here saying that he would be unable to sail except in a smooth sea on account of his vessels needing patching near the water line.

The Japanese consul at Manila called on Governor General Wright twice today to make inquiries regarding the disposition of the Russian vessels.

MANILA, June 4.—Prince Poteaten is among the wounded Russians in the hospital.

Rear Admiral Enquist states that the gravest damage done to his ships was when the Japanese were firing at five mile range.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The following cablegram was received at the navy department today from Admiral Train dated at Manila today and was sent immediately to the president:

Admiral Enquist states that the Aurora and the Oleg are both seriously damaged and are not seaworthy. The Jemtchug is in bad condition. He makes the request to fill up with provisions and coal. Will require 14 days to repair damages. A board has been ordered to examine and report their condition. One hundred and thirty men wounded. Permission has been granted for fifty to be landed.

Secretary Taft has received the following cablegram from Governor Wright dated at Manila last night:

Three Russian warships the Aurora, Jemtchug and Oleg under command of Admiral Enquist anchored in Manila bay this evening. One hundred and [illegible] three wounded. Admiral in command and Asiatic fleet made an inspection and stated that they are without coal or supplies and unable to proceed.

CZAR DETERMINED TO QUELL REVOLUTIONARY PROPAGANDA

ST. PETERSBURG, June 5, 2:10 a. m.—The Russian government has shown that it has not weakened in this hour of disaster. Instead of yielding to the stormy demands which the radicals hoped Admiral Rojestvensky's defeat would force the government to grant, the emperor issued a ukase Sunday conferring greatly increased powers on Governor General Trepoff making him assistant minister of the interior in place of Major General Rydcsefsky, who is made a senator, also chief of the department of police and commander of the corps of the gendarmerie.

General Trepoff is given the right by the ukase to close all assemblies and congresses, to suspend indefinitely all societies, leagues and other bodies manifesting pernicious activity and to take all other ample steps necessary to preserve order so as to prevent interference with the established regime and to suppress the revolutionary propaganda.

Responsible to Emperor

This ukase which intrusts almost dictatorial powers to the head of the imperial police to control the agitation now almost peremptorily demanding a constitution, representative government and the surrender of the vital principles of the autocracy and to put down the disorders with which the revolutionists are threatening the country makes him responsible to the emperor.

The document is of the deepest importance in the present state of Russia and indicates that the government while steadily proceeding in its plans for the fulfillment of the imperial promises contained in the rescript of March 3 is determined not to be swerved from its purpose by the pressure of military and naval disasters but in its own time and as speedily as possible to give this nation the legislative body on which the Bouligan commission has been working. It may perhaps also be read the [illegible] that the war will continue and that the question of peace will not be submitted to a zemsky sobor.

Recommends Assembly

According to the Russ the result of the labors of the Bouligan commission which has now been printed and submitted to the council ministers does not [illegible] the organization [illegible] functions of a new governing body but rather collection and classification of the necessary data for the formation of an assembly giving alternative views of the various points in dispute and leaving the final difference in the hands of the ministers. The material gathered by the commission has been grouped under six heads as follows:

First: A historical survey of the forms assumed by popular representation in Russia from the fifth to the sixth century; second, consideration of the effect of the summoning of a popular assembly on the country under present circumstances; third, the extent to which suffrage shall be granted whether on universal education or property qualifications and whether classes and occupations should be represented; fourth, the extent of the assembly's right to interpellate ministers; fifth, the extent of the assembly's rights over the budget; and sixth, what provinces of government should be removed to the competency of the assembly.

Thus nothing regarding the imperial douma has been pre-determined, Minister Bouligan reserving the right to give his opinion to his co-ministers.

TOGO VISITS ROJESTVENSKY AT JAP NAVAL HOSPITAL

Admiral Yamamoto, Minister of Navy, Sends Flowers and Letter of Sympathy and Good Cheer to Wounded Russian Officer.

TOKIO, June 4, [illegible] p. m.—Vice Admiral Togo visited Vice Admiral Rojestvensky at the naval hospital at Sasebo Saturday and expressed his sympathy for the admiral's wounds. He praised the desperately courageous fight of the Russians and expressed the hope that Vice Admiral Rojestvensky would soon be able to return to Russia.

Rear Admiral Rojestvensky was deeply moved by the admiral's words and thanked him. He congratulated Japan on their courage and patriotism of her sailors and said it lessened his regret and sorrow of the defeat to know the high character of the victors.

TOKIO, June 4, [illegible] p. m.—Admiral Yamamoto, minister of the navy, has dispatched flowers for the room of Admiral Rojestvensky. Accompanying the flowers was a letter to the wounded Russian officer saying:

"I beg to express my respect for you in discharging your duty like a soldier in fighting desperately for the sake of your fatherland. I cannot refrain from sympathizing with you in your wounded condition and hope the accommodations of our hospitals and ability of our naval surgeons will ease your suffering and speedily restore your health."

Admiral Yamamoto also sent a general letter to the wounded Russian officers and men expressing the hope that their suffering would soon be relieved and that they would speedily recover.

[illegible] torpedo boat which was towed [illegible] here today reports that she had [illegible] drifting for six days with 180 men on board and water sufficient for only one day left and with very little food. The vessel was damaged forward. Her crew has already been transferred to the Russian transport [illegible] at Woosung.

TOKIO, June 4, [illegible] p. m.—[illegible] Admiral Nebogatoff is not likely to sign his parole.

NAGASAKI, June 4.—It is [illegible] on good authority that all the [illegible] naval prisoners in Japan will be sent home.

TOKIO, June 3.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A telegram from Sasebo says:

A member of the Russian staff being asked why the Russian ships [illegible] the risk of essaying the Tsu straits, said:

We were confident of victory. Reaching Vladivostok was not the only object of our fleet. The [illegible] commanded us on leaving the Baltic to fight and defeat our enemy and we were anxious to obey his orders. We were confident and ready to fight from the start. Our [illegible] ended.

Of the captives brought to Sasebo the battleship Nicolai II is the most seriously damaged. There are many holes in her port side over three feet in diameter and the majority of her quick firing guns on the port side were destroyed. Her forward [illegible] shot away and one [illegible] the water line measures [illegible] feet.

FIRST DAY OF HISTORIC BATTLE OF SEA OF JAPAN DESCRIBED BY PARTICIPANTS

VLADIVOSTOK, June 4.—From the accounts of participants in the battle of the sea of Japan as given here can be constructed a picture of the first day of the fight on the morning of May 27 when the Russian fleet found itself 120 miles south of Tsu island. It was heading for the straits in three columns, the battleships and five cruisers on the left, the light cruisers on the right and the transports and torpedo boats between. The weather was foggy and the view therefore difficult.

At 8:30 o'clock in the morning the Russian fleet was discovered by the Japanese cruiser Idzumo which blundered upon [illegible] in the fog and narrowly escaped capture.

Opened Fire

At [illegible] o'clock four Japanese cruisers, the Chitose, Kasaga, Tsushima and [illegible] [illegible] engaged and suffered [illegible] were discovered to the north-east of the fleet and were fired on by the battleships. The Japanese cruisers disappeared and the Russian fleet proceeded through the strait. Suddenly at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon a gaunt silhouette of Japanese vessels, their greenish blue paint making them scarcely visible in the fog, loomed up to the westward of the Russian vessels. These Japanese ships consisted of four battleships and the armored cruisers Tokiwa, Nisshin, Kasuga [illegible] Idzumo. They immediately opened a heavy fire which was especially directed against the flagships of the various squadrons of the Russian fleet. Admiral Rojestvensky signaled to the transports to place themselves on the right of the squadron of light cruisers so as to increase their distance from the fighting portion of the fleet which under the well aimed fire of the Japanese [illegible].

Owing to the precision of the Japanese [illegible] and [illegible] the Kniaz Souvaroff [illegible] disabled [illegible] and soon sank.

[illegible] at the same time as the opening of the engagement [illegible] the battleship [illegible] Osliabya [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] the light cruisers [illegible] Monomakh and Dmitri Donskoi were [illegible] the left [illegible]. They were repulsed [illegible] the Japanese cruisers [illegible] the [illegible] had been [illegible] condition.

The [illegible] took [illegible] battleship Alexander III [illegible] and [illegible] ship Borodino [illegible] was picked up [illegible] place and reopening [illegible] ship Borodino [illegible] line. The Japanese [illegible] condition of the Alexander III concentrated their fire on her and she again dropped out of the line this time finally and disappeared.

Such a heavy fire from the Japanese

LOCAL BALL TEAM DEFEATS FOUNTAIN

The fast local aggregation of ball tossers known as the Pikes Peak Fuel Co.'s team yesterday added another to its string of victories by defeating the baseball team of Fountain, Colo., by the score of 16 to 5. The victory was due to good hitting. Garrett pitched a good game for the locals while McCombs of Fountain was hit freely. R. S. Goshen umpired the game and his decisions were satisfactory.

THE ATTRACTIVE GIRL.

Much has been written about "the American girl" and her reasons for being preeminently the most attractive girl in the world. In bringing up girls mothers can't be too careful to let their daughters develop all their natural charms to the utmost. DENVER, June 4. The feature of the game was Denver's hitting in the fourth ... Everyone seemed to solve Chappelle's delivery and he was pounded all ... with the result that Denver worked in eight scores. Then Manske relieved the pitcher. There was nothing much doing then until the ... when the Denver boys got on to Manske's curves and ran up five more scores. A triple play from Hartzell to Lucia to Everitt was a feature.

Although the score was rather large the game was not a slow one.

RIFLE SHOOT WON BY DR. ASHQUITH

CENTRAL CITY CONTESTANT CAPTURES POST TROPHY LOW SCORES DUE TO HIGH WIND ON RANGE

Dr. Ashquith of Central City in open competition for the Denver Post trophy yesterday afternoon won the shoot held by the Colorado Rifle association on the Cheyenne range of the Colorado Springs Rifle club. His average was 8 ... Green also of Central City was second with a percentage of 81 and N. S. Davis president of the Colorado Springs Rifle club third with 80.

The low scores made were due to the strong wind which blew across the range during the entire shoot. Twelve men from Denver, Central City, Cripple Creek and Colorado Springs were entered. Each man had 10 consecutive shots at the range of 200 yards.

In the morning a re-entry match was held, 15 men participating. There were seven prizes for this shoot, the highest being $17. It was won by A. W. Peterson of Denver.

HIGH GRADERS DO INJURY TO CAMP

Special to the Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, June 4.—There has been considerable talk during the past few months in reference to high grading which has been going on in the district. EMPEROR'S VISIT TO MOROCCO NOT HOSTILE DEMONSTRATION

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

TANGIER, Morocco, May 5.—In commercial quarters and in those circles usually well informed on political affairs the recent visit of the German emperor to Morocco is not regarded as in any sense meant as a hostile demonstration against any foreign power. Here the belief is that the intentions of Germany as affecting Morocco are purely to protect her large and growing commercial interests. In other words, it is felt that Germany merely stands for the policy of the open door and for the protection of her increasing trade.

The whole question which has been up by the emperor's visit however, is much broader than one of imports. The future development of Morocco promises to be great. It is a fertile land and as compared to other African Mediterranean countries it is well populated. It thus will be seen that the matter of railway concessions and mining concessions will in the future become one of paramount importance. A French protectorate either in fact or one tacitly existing, would mean that the bulk of concessions would go to French capital because the existing agreement makes this easy. It is pointed out that the German emperor foresees this possible development and that his Moroccan policy is merely designed to place Germany at least on an equality with France in the future development of the country.

There is no disposition either in official or commercial circles to believe that the German emperor in any way wishes to provoke hostilities. Under existing conditions it would be easy to absolutely close the door against all but French capital for mining and railway concessions, and this is the condition as Morocco sees it that Emperor William wishes to overcome.

FIRST DAY OF DISASTROUS BATTLE

12-inch guns was then directed against the Borodino that she was disabled and sank. This was at 7:30 in the evening. The battleship Sissoi Veliky was now ablaze but was firing with every available gun. At this hour the onslaught of torpedo boats from the coast of Japan and the closing in of the battleships from the left broke up the Russian fleet all of which except four battleships and the converted cruiser Ural had been holding together.

During the night the Japanese torpedo attacks continued the result of which was not known here until the report of the commander of the cruiser Izumrud was received.

During the battle a mass of Japanese junks is said to have obstructed movements of the Russian fleet. The Russian officers assert that these junks scattered mines in the paths of their vessels.

The bodies of Lieut. Machiln of the cruiser Almaz and of other officers and sailors brought here by the Almaz and the torpedo boat destroyers were buried today.

Rojestvensky's Capture

Captain Reiff of the destroyer Grozny, describing the capture of Admiral Rojestvensky, says that his vessel in company with the destroyer Bedovi, on which Admiral Rojestvensky escaped, were steaming northward when they encountered two Japanese destroyers. The Bedovi signaled the Grozny, "How many knots can you make?" and on receiving the reply "2..." ordered full speed for Vladivostok.

The Grozny, instead of ... the signal engaged one of the Japanese destroyers, but the Bedovi raised the white flag and the Red Cross flag. While doing battle with her opponent the Grozny was unable to go to the aid of her consort, which was taken in tow by the other Japanese destroyer. The Grozny succeeded in shaking off her opponent and later encountered another Japanese destroyer which she sank in a running fight.

DEAD BODIES LIE BENEATH DEBRIS

MONTROSE, Colo., June 3.—Although it is certain that dead bodies are still buried beneath the debris of the cave-in in the Gunnison tunnel which gave way last Tuesday, the work of clearing away the wreckage has been practically abandoned until something can be done to prevent further slides.

The ground has loosened nearly to the surface about sixty feet and the dirt falls into the tunnel as fast as the horror of the place is shoveled away. The odor of decaying flesh fills the tunnel making it almost impossible for the men to work.

HUSBAND ACCUSES MISSING WIFE OF STEALING CHILD

"My wife came to my home stole the child and skipped to this city arriving here Saturday morning and I am looking for her," remarked A. J. Brown of Creede Colo. to Police Officer Rulon of the Rio Grande depot yesterday morning.

Mr. Brown had just stepped from Rio Grande train No. 16 which arrived here at 4:40 o'clock yesterday morning and approaching the officer inquired if he was on duty at the depot at the arrival of the same train Saturday morning. Receiving a reply in the affirmative Brown informed the officer that his wife had ... to Creede and while he was ... from the house had taken ... boy ...

... giving the officer a description of his missing wife Brown asked if he had seen such a woman and boy. "She bought a ticket for this city," continued Brown, "and I have an idea that she was to meet a man here and go with him to Cripple Creek."

Officer Rulon believed that he had seen such a woman leave the train but could not say positively whether she had gone up town or remained in the depot. He rather inclined to the opinion that the woman had taken a carriage with the intention of remaining here.

"Guess I'll take a look around until the leaving time of the Cripple Creek train and if I don't see her will then go to Cripple Creek. All I want is the boy and that I am going to have," concluded the miner from the silver camp.

PROSPEROUS LOCAL BANKS.

THE amount of money [illegible] barometer shows [illegible] business condition. The amount of money [illegible] on deposit will show the state of the [illegible] finance, and this is especially true when there are savings banks which make a specialty of small accounts.

This is why the highly flourishing condition of the local financial institutions as shown by their latest statements should be a source of gratification to everybody in Colorado Springs. It is astonishing to people of other cities unfamiliar with conditions here that a town with a population of between 30,000 and 35,000 should have bank deposits aggregating nearly twelve million dollars. This is the financial condition of Colorado Springs today. The three national banks, one savings bank, one trust company and one savings and loan company held on last Monday deposits of exactly $11,736,962.69. This is an increase of $1,282,882.07 since March 14 last, and of $2,557,0[illegible].90 since June 9, 1904. The First National has increased its deposits more than $1,000,000 in less than a year, the El Paso National has gained half that sum, and the Colorado Title & Trust Company has gained a little more than $500,000. In the same period the deposits of the Colorado Savings Bank have almost tripled.

The causes of this prosperity are not hard to find. Cripple Creek continues to pour its golden flood into the lap of Colorado Springs in a steady stream. The Portland, the El Paso and some of the other big mines are now disbursing larger dividends than ever before, and several smaller properties have lately been added to the list of dividend payers. The big end of Cripple Creek dividends do not go east, but into the pockets of Colorado Springs stockholders.

Another reason for the large bank deposits is the presence here of innumerable health and pleasure seekers, many of whom receive large incomes from other places. A surprisingly large amount of money comes into Colorado Springs in this way every month and it is all spent here. Again, business conditions generally are good. Spring trade has been brisk, the business men are well satisfied and the voice of the kicker is stilled.

It is apparent that these conditions are to continue indefinitely with probably a gradual improvement. The tourist season will unquestionably be the best in several years if not the best ever known. Within a month the tide of travel will set this way, and before it begins to recede at least 100,000 people from the East, the Middle West and the South will have visited Colorado Springs for a day, a week or a month. Colorado Springs is certain of a highly prosperous year and it need surprise no one if bank deposits here increase as much in the next twelve months as they have in the past.

A WRONG SYSTEM.

THE riot at the State Industrial School for Girls near Denver the other day again calls attention to the extreme difficulty which Colorado, as well as every other state, has in dealing with incorrigible girls. This is not the first outbreak at the industrial school nor is it likely to be the last. And the chances are that little if any blame attaches to the authorities in charge. They have a task compared with which the labor of the state penitentiary officials and those at the boys' school are as the care of a kindergarten. It is no wonder that anybody can be found to undertake the job.

The present system of dealing with these girls is [illegible] wrong. The inmates of the school are [illegible] young women who have been sent there [illegible] ranging from habitual disobedience of their parents to murder. By far the greater number of them have lost the last vestige of self-respect and may be set down as absolutely incorrigible. Others have touched the [illegible] depths of depravity and are also criminal. But whatever may be the moral condition of a girl when she first enters the school, the chances are over whelmingly in favor of her soon becoming as bad as the worst. Those who with proper treatment might be [illegible] their depravity are thrown together with the vicious and all reach a common level. Under such conditions the industrial school becomes merely a school of vice and crime.

It is inexpressibly sad that such conditions should exist, and it is a disgrace to the state that nothing has been done to better them. It surely is not necessary [illegible] the inmates of the school together and [illegible] those who might be reformed to be contaminated [illegible] with the worst ones. There ought to be [illegible] separating the girls into different classes according [illegible] characters and never permit them to mingle [illegible] have the effect of preventing such [illegible] as the last one, and it would probably improve [illegible] of the place.

SAFETY IN RAILROADING.

COMPARISONS between the degree of safety in American and English railroad never seem to [illegible] it is a well known fact that American [illegible] by the hundreds where [illegible] by ten, and the proba[illegible] have been thoroughly discussed time and again [illegible]

[illegible] clearly shown by Dr. [illegible] contribution to Cassier's Magazine. The only fair way to judge of the relative degree of safety in travel in the two countries [illegible] the ratio between the number of passengers [illegible] number [illegible]

Mr. W[illegible] says that in 1903 the total number of tickets sold in England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland exclusive of commutation tickets was 1,194,000,000, which is about 300,000,000 more than were sold in this country. This is in the proportion [illegible] In that year twenty-five British passengers were killed to 221 American. If the traffic had been as great in the United States as in the United Kingdom the application of the same mortality rate would have shown a loss of [illegible] lives, or twenty-two times as many as in Great Britain.

The [illegible] are interesting in connection with some calculation recently made by an insurance actuary designed to show that the dangers of peace are fully as great as those of war. He reasons thus:

Deaths [illegible]

Numerous as the railroad casualties are, the enormous volume of travel makes the number of fatalities so small in comparison as to establish the truism that a person's life is safer in a railway train than in his own home. Accident insurance companies pay twice as much indemnity for loss of life on railroads as for fatalities due to other causes. But this is by no means to be used as an argument that safety in railroading has reached as high a degree as possible. The English roads have attained a mark far in advance of our systems and the public has a right to demand that conditions here be made at least equal to those abroad.

The Kansas City Journal says: "No man realizes how unworthy [illegible] and altogether insignificant he can feel until he is singled out to make tremulous responses at the side of a radiant being whose transfiguring glory eclipses him as the beautiful sun obscures the lowly glow worm." In other words, a man being married feels, looks and acts like a lobster—but it doesn't follow that he is one.

The armchair warriors in St. Petersburg now want to hang Admiral Nebogatoff because he didn't get himself killed and as soon as they find out whether Rojestvensky will recover or die of his wound they will probably take up his case. It has been noticeable from the beginning that the intrepid fighters who stay in St. Petersburg shine particularly as critics.

J. Pierpont Morgan has paid $81,375 for a sixteenth century drinking cup. There are people who would simply drink themselves to death to get their money's worth out of such an expensive schooner.

Miss Alice Roosevelt is studying Spanish preparatory to visiting the Philippines. This is like studying Latin before visiting Rome. Most people in the Philippines speak either English or Tagalog.

Count Cassini wants Russia to keep on fighting because there is still a possibility of winning a land victory. No doubt Oyama will obligingly remove this objection before long.

The summer days have come again, Pauline, and it's time to get last summer's clothes out on the line so the gentle zephyrs can blow away the odor of moth balls.

THE FAMILY BURDEN

If there is a dispisable thing in the world it is the person able to earn an honest living who continually sponges that living off others, and often others not at all able to bear the burden. We know of such cases right here in Montrose, strange as it may seem, and yet those imposed on say nothing, owing to family ties, business relations or other reasons. Yet that makes the leeches none the less dispisable. No person in good health should ever get from those about them a thing in the way of support which is not in some way returned.—Montrose Enterprise.

And yet Boulder is not at all behind her fair northern sister in the variety and extent of her fruits and vegetable industries. Boulder is doing very nicely without factories, but we believe she would do much better with a few manufacturing interests here. However, they all pass us by. Can some one tell us the reason why.—Boulder Camera.

DRY FARMING

Every few days we read of this or that man who is going to experiment in dry farming upon the Campbell system in Colorado. Why bless the ignorance of some people. Good crops have been grown without irrigation on dry lands for many years without any particular system, just plowing the land, sowing the seed and harvesting the crop. Three years out of five a paying crop of corn, winter wheat or barley may be grown in almost any location in Colorado without water.—Fort Collins Democrat.

With the [illegible] beginning of this method of equipment and form of attack Philip II in 1588 built a collection of ships known as the Armada with which he proposed to invade and subjugate England, which the pope had bestowed on Spain. While the fate of the Armada can hardly be said to be due to combat, it is interesting as illustrating the unseaworthiness of vessels [illegible] had sailed from Lisbon [illegible] and encountered a second [illegible]

The Strength of Wooden Walls

Wooden walls still served for the protection of [illegible]. In the revolution [illegible] fights were mostly between [illegible] vessels, for there were no great squadrons assembled. In the war of 1812 [illegible] the Americans builders were taxed. The British had been controlling the great lakes when Commodore Perry assembled a fleet which wrested this control from them in the famous battle of Lake Erie.

The Modern Ironclad

[illegible] war brought the development of the ironclad vessel into practical use [illegible] Merrimac [illegible] Confederates was carrying everything before her in Hampton Roads when the little Monitor steamed up and drove her out of action. This was in 1862 and the remaining two years of the war gave ample opportunity for building [illegible] these boxes for service [illegible] monitor type was poor [illegible] so the wooden ship continued to hold its place in the navy. It was on the old wooden Hartford that Farragut sailed up Mobile bay in 1864, braving the torpedoes. Steam had been introduced as a propelling power [illegible] auxiliary.

The First Real Battle

The first real battle between ironclads [illegible] was at the mouth of the Yalu river September 17, 1894, when [illegible] lost and were defeated, losing four of their fleet. Then the Japanese first showed their superiority as seamen, for the Chinese who had several foreign commanders were completely outclassed. Manila bay and Santiago are examples of the subjugation of fleets by superior forces both in armament and personnel. While Admiral Dewey may not have known how weak were the boats defending Manila bay, he was able to send them to the bottom without suffering injury. The American vessels that beached the Spanish cruisers as they emerged from Santiago harbor were better manned and equipped and with the exception of a return fire they met with no aggressive resistance. The lesson of modern naval warfare appears to be that the personal factor is more important than ever before [illegible] the handling of such complicated engines [illegible] both in the Spanish war and the present war [illegible] the most remarkable [illegible]—Pittsburg Gazette.

CAUGHT IN CORNERS

Before the country was developed and crops became so uncertain because of their immensity it was comparatively easy to corner the markets. In the early seventies John B. Lyon conducted several successful corners in wheat and corn. Within the past 20 years B. P. Hutchinson, known widely as "Old Hutch," was the only man to carry through a corner in wheat with complete success. In September, 1888, he put the price to $2 and made the shorts settle at that price on the last day of the month. Among the wrecks are these: E. P. Keene, 1879, wheat, loss $2,000,000; W. B. Hands, 1881, wheat, loss $1,400,000; Peter McGeoch, 1883, lard, loss $2,000,000; E. L. Harper, 1887, wheat, loss $4,000,000; Deacon S. V. White, 1892, corn, loss $1,000,000; John Cudahy, 1893, pork and lard, loss $2,000,000; Joe Leiter, 1898, wheat, loss $7,000,000.

The Fidelity National bank of Cincinnati carried the heaviest line of wheat ever taken on by a manipulator. The books showed that he was long 46,000,000 bushels. His bank was wrecked and he served a term in prison.

Hands' case was attended by a rather curious circumstance. He put the price of wheat to $1.25 and liquidated at a big profit. Then he went short of the market. Armour ran the price up to $1.40 and ruined him.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HOLBROOK & PERKINS

RESIGNS PASTORATE OF BAPTIST CHURCH

The Rev. Edward Braislin Compelled to Vacate His Pulpit on Account of Failing Health. Leaves September First for Old Home.

The Rev. Edward Braislin, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church, at the close of the morning service yesterday read his resignation to take effect September 1. The announcement was a great surprise and was received with universal regret. No formal action has yet been taken by the church. Dr. Braislin assigned as his reason for wishing to be relieved from his duties here the need, which his medical advisers regard imperative, of complete rest for a year. Without this, there is danger of recurrence of the severe illness from which he has recently recovered. It is his intention to go, in September, to the old homestead in Mt. Holly, N. J., for a stay of three or four months and then to spend the winter in southern California or Italy. His physicians encourage him to expect that if he follows this course, he will then be well able to assume again the work of the pastorate, preferably in a lower altitude.

Dr. Braislin, with health greatly impaired by la grippe, came to this city early in 1895. By making the most use of the favorable climatic conditions of Colorado Springs, his recovery was rapid and so complete that, when, in February, 1897, he was invited to become the pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, he felt himself in excellent physical condition for the work, and accepted.

The general sentiment in his congregation is that it would be difficult to overestimate the value to the church of Dr. Braislin's eight and a half years of service. When he accepted its call, the church had a membership of about 300. An examination of the records shows nearly double that number now enrolled and that Dr. Braislin has, during his pastorate, received into the fellowship of the church, in all, 779 persons. He began his leadership of the church when it was hampered by a debt of $20,000. That has since, largely through his efforts, been wiped out. Under his direction, the activities of the church have increased greatly in scope and efficiency. Nearly $150,000 have been raised for all purposes—$23,000 of it in one year—and an average of approximately $10,000 annually. A very large portion of this has been donated to philanthropic enterprises.

The H. C. Woods Memorial chapel has been built at Tejon and Caramillo streets and has become the center of a useful work in the northern part of the city. Other mission interests have been established and fostered.

Dr. Braislin's business career, prior to his entering the ministry, gave him a knowledge of men and affairs of great practical value, and he has been remarkably successful in securing from his church general and harmonious effort in the furtherance of the plans well conceived by him for the church's usefulness. His frankness and cordiality, his warm sympathy in distress, have made very strong the attachment of his people. His sermons, abounding in original and helpful thought, and forcefully presented, have always been supported by a life commending itself to all. His deacons and trustees have found him a wise counselor. The termination of his pastorate will be regarded by his church and congregation as in every way a serious misfortune.

The regret at Dr. Braislin's departure will not be confined to his church. Before assuming any official relation to church work here, he identified himself with Colorado Springs and built his present home, which is one of the bright spots on far North Cascade avenue. He has taken a lively interest in everything pertaining to the public welfare. He has done valuable service both for the public schools and for Colorado college, of whose board of trustees he has for several years been a member.

PRINTERS OF STATE INVITED TO CELEBRATE JULY 4 HERE

The printers of Colorado Springs, Denver, Pueblo, Cripple Creek, Victor and other towns of Colorado will observe the Fourth of July in this city with big doings at the Printers' home.

Superintendent Charles Deacon yesterday announced to the local union that the management of the home is arranging for a barbecue, ball game, races and other sports on the home grounds on the Fourth, and he invited the members of the union to join in the festivities. The invitation was unanimously accepted.

Mr. Deacon also stated that he intended to send invitations to the unions of the state and make this a state gathering. Members of the other crafts in the allied printing trades of the city will also be invited.

The event will be one of the features of the observance of the day in Colorado and is already being looked forward to with great interest by the local printers as well as by the "old timers" at the home.

VISIONS OF YOUTH ARE ALWAYS POTENT FACTORS OF LIFE

The Rev. Dr. Edward Braislin Preached Inspiring Sermon Last Night to Members of the High School Graduating Class.

The young men and women who are soon to be graduated from the Colorado Springs High school gathered last evening at the First Baptist church for the baccalaureate sermon. Over forty of them there were seated together in the front of the church, while the members of the cadet battalion in their uniforms attended in a body.

The decorations were simple, potted plants and palms being arranged in the front of the pulpit. Special music was furnished by the choir. The church was filled with friends of the school when the services began at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Edward Braislin preached the sermon, which was full of earnestness and eloquence. He said in part:

Acts 9:6. Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do?

Our Lord called an educated man to the greatest New Testament task. Paul, a graduate as we believe of the University of Tarsus, one of the most famous of antiquity, and a graduate of the theological school of Gamaliel, pre-eminent among the Jews. A brilliant boy, with brilliant and appreciated opportunities and with an exalted moral nature, becomes thus the apostle to the Gentiles—that apostle that is so far to America and modern civilization. He is in a peculiar sense our apostle. I want you to learn a lesson from him just at that point in his career when his mission was revealed to him. He saw the vision of what he was to do and the vision blinded him, so surpassing was it in splendor and in danger. His question, "What shall I do?" was answered and in the answer, you will observe, he saw that his noble birth, his pure family life, his ample education and his exceptional talents were all explained and brought into worthy issue. God is a great economist. You may waste your opportunities, but he will not waste his in giving you all that your faithfulness will qualify you to accomplish in the way of a life task. Your vision will correspond to your ability and your ability as man or woman will correspond to your character as it issues from the days and tasks of youth. That is the reason why I ask you to give me your attention now, for I am to try to speak to you of vital things.

Day Dreams.

First.—You are in the years when dreams—day dreams—are as natural to you as the air you breathe. These dreams, as Wordsworth tells you, may be "trailing clouds of glory" from some world whence you came, but certain it is that, come whence what they may, they will, as the great poet adds, gradually fade into the light of common day. What they leave behind them, however, will be you and you will be what your dreams have made you, while you and they sat and slept together and honored or dishonored each other. Dreams either of character or of work are divinely given. And God gives you nothing, though it be valued by millions, to compare with your day dreams, both for this world and for that which is to come.

Three words will cover our lesson from Paul's vision as he received it fresh from the mind of his living Lord at the Damascus gate. The three words are character, energy and authority—character, energy and authority with which your life will impress itself. Your generation will depend upon character, energy and authority of your vision, for we are built of such stuff as our dreams are made of. I could not behold the eyes that are at this moment looking into mine, I could guess, without palmistry or clairvoyance, the years that are to come to each of you, upon the film of youth's imagination is the picture that is sunlight and art of coming days will develop. The wise men who follow the star will always reach a Bethlehem. Fireflies and murky torches, however, are not stars. Mr. Thomas W. Lawson, the Boston millionaire who seems to be a magician in finance and whose recent expositions in Everybody's Magazine have stirred the pulses of America, says, "I am only doing today what I set out to do years ago. The mental picture of success and its fruits I then drew I have slept and lived with and eaten and drank with all my life." Garibaldi's mother filled him to sleep in his cradle with pictures of his coming greatness, calling him the "Washington of Italy." He caught her vision, dreamed of saving his country and did it. Beethoven used to wander in the woods to compose his music. In utter silence he heard the marvelous symphonies in his own soul and went home to write them down. Tennyson saw the epic in the story, the poem in the flower in the crannied wall. Angelo saw his David in the rough marble and simply, as he said, "released him." Columbus was overpowered by his vision of a new world long before he planted the cross and the flag of Spain on the beach of your world and mine. Henry Schliemann listened when a boy of seven ... reading of ... Homer's Iliad, ... dreamed of discovering the site of ancient Troy and we all know how in later years he did it. Through the fearful darkness of civil war Lincoln saw the vision of a united and prosperous nation and that he gave it to us as he died. That over whelming ... way the dream precedes the ... the plan the battle ...

As a Man Thinketh.

Now the vision of Paul was in harmony with this universal law. It marked out for him a definite work. Christian visions are marked by two qualities. They are the highest visions and they are the most practical. In one of Ezekiel's visions he saw an angel, and he takes pains to tell us that when the angel "stood upon his feet he let down his wings." Christian dreams have both wings and feet. Joseph, "the dreamer," as his brothers scornfully called him, had wings upon his dreams for they carried him high above indolence and vice and they had feet and hands for they builded granaries and fed a starving world with corn. The Christian was not ... the ... dreaming ... live on the side of their ... He is the most ... practical worker man on earth because he works ... best ... and with ... His vision makes ... greater than his work and ... his ... work by its association with ... Theodore Roosevelt had to ... exalted office when he was New York ... Then he ... His ... office ... Some men grow up out of this work and some fall out at the bottom ... I know ... All depends upon the way you look at things and tasks before you ... the large ... boys ... larger ... I know two young men both with beardless boys, both were bank clerks. One digs ditches now and one is an officer of the bank. The ditch digger thought his work in bank too small for him and the bank officer saw the whole business of banking in his little part of it. Not that ditch digging is ignoble work. For my calling ... the ditch and he would make it a thing of beauty, which is a joy forever. You have learned a great Christian lesson when you see as Peter saw in his vision of the beasts that God can so cleanse the humblest duty that no man may have a right to call it "common or unclean." That is what I mean by your vision having both wings and feet. The Christian ideal of loyal loving service will glorify the utmost commonplace. Your greatness is seen not by the eminence upon which you stand but by the quality of what you do. A perfect pig sty is of more value in this soiled world than is a tawdry palace, a clean penny is worth more to God than stolen millions.

The final word. We all love liberty but what we need most is authority. Every man's right in his own eyes may be to every dreamer a pleasant thing but not a wholesome thing. Paul's dream before he was a Christian led him to Damascus to hunt and kill Christ's people. But when Christ became his Lord the whole vision changed and the life followed the vision. ... this bewildering forest of day dreams which you think tonight is without definite order or direction. I urge you to permit Jesus of Nazareth to come with his blessed and commanding authority and all will be order, cosmos, and work will be joyous, coherent, progressive and effective. Remember there ... no music in eternity to compare with that voice of His as he looks over your career to say "well done, enter in ..."

THINKS TUNNEL EMPLOYE IS DROWNED IN ALAMOSA RIVER

L. R. Stark, who returned yesterday from the San Luis valley where he inspected the work done on the ... tunnel being built by the San Luis Valley Irrigation and Power company, reports that one of the drill men employed on the tunnel disappeared Friday night and is thought to have drowned in the Alamosa river. The man, whose name could not be ascertained last night, left the bunk house with his dinner pail at 11 o'clock Friday evening for the blacksmith shop. In order to reach the latter he should have crossed the Alamosa on a foot-bridge. The river is running bank high and it is thought that he fell from the bridge and was drowned in the rushing waters without even a chance to call for help.

Mr. Stark says that work on the tunnel is progressing rapidly and will be finished by the first of next year. A $2,500 boiler, compressor and air receiver will be installed this week and contracts for concrete and dirt work will be let in a few days. "All the rivers are running bank full," said Mr. Stark, "and I think that enough water runs out of Colorado each year to water the whole state the year round."

All the farmers in the San Luis valley are enthusiastic over the newly imported macaroni or durum wheat and those in a position to know claim that it will double the price of Colorado farming lands in a few years. The feature of raising it is that it needs little or no irrigation. Mr. Stark says that he was shown a bundle of the new wheat more than six feet high which was raised without water. The durum wheat raised in the San Luis valley this year thrashed out 55 bushels to the acre.

FIRE DEPARTMENT FOUND NO TRACE OF INCENDIARISM

Fire Chief Armbruster completed his examination of the residence at 622 East Willamette avenue, partially damaged by fire early yesterday morning, but was unable to find any trace of oil or other inflammable material. Mrs. Bridget E. Lynch, the owner of the property, resides in a small cottage in the rear of the damaged house. She was asleep at the time of the fire yesterday morning and could throw no light upon the manner of its starting. The occupant of the adjoining house told the chief that he retired at 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning, but before going to sleep heard a door slam twice very distinctly. When the firemen reached the burning building they found the kitchen entrance unlocked, but the front door was fastened. The house had been rented to new tenants who were to move in today.

TO SECURE I. T. U. CONVENTION FOR THE SPRINGS NEXT YEAR

The International Typographical union convention for Colorado Springs in 1906.

This is now the slogan of the union printers of Colorado Springs and will be the slogan until after action is taken by the convention which meets in Toronto, Canada, next August.

The Typographical union met in convention here in 1896 and the request for the gathering next year is to be made on the ground that the convention should meet in the "Home" city at least once every ten years.

Colorado Springs Typographical union, No. 82, at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon, instructed W. A. Snyder, the delegate to the Toronto convention, to use his best efforts to secure the gathering for this city. To help Mr. Snyder a committee of five of the leading members of the local union has been appointed to carry on a campaign prior to this year's convention.

This committee is composed of Charles Deacon, chairman; W. A. Snyder, Alderman Thomas McCaffery, John J. McCarty and A. J. E. Hubbard. Each union will be notified of the desire of No. 82 for the next convention and it will be strongly presented through the columns of the Typographical Journal.

This convention will mean much to Colorado Springs. There will be present 1,500 of the leading printers of the country, together with their wives and members of their families. Delegates will come from every city of the United States, from Canada, British Columbia, Hawaii, Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines.

It is planned to have the new Cummings Memorial addition to the Printers' home ready for dedication at that time and to make the dedication a part of the program. The convention will last six days and the delegates and others will doubtless spend four or five days longer in this section.

GETS DIPLOMA FROM STATE UNIVERSITY

Among the 11 young men who will receive diplomas from the college of law of the University of Colorado next Friday is Guy K. Brewster of this city. Mr. Brewster was graduated from the Colorado Springs High school with the class of 1901 and since that time has been studying for his profession at the State university at Boulder. While a student at the local High school he was prominent in school affairs, being an officer in the cadet battalion.

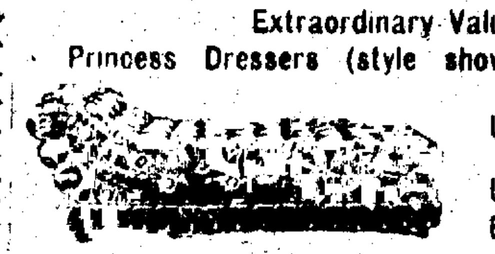

NEW RESERVOIR TO COST $6,000 IN PALMER PARK

A new steel and concrete distributing reservoir with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons will be built by the Northfield Land & Water company in Palmer park at a cost of $6,000. Work will be commenced ... days. The reservoir will be built north of the ... now used by the company for the purpose of supplying water temporarily when repairs are being made to the regular reservoir. Water is supplied by the company to residents of Nob Hill, Austin Bluffs and the Printers' home.

WILL BEGIN WORK TODAY RAISING 210-FOOT POLE

The 210-foot pole for the Colorado Springs station of the American De-Forest Wireless Telegraph company has arrived and work will begin today on its erection on the college campus. It will be stationed near Wolcott observatory. C. B. Cooper, of Denver, superintendent of construction for the company, is in the city to superintend the installation of the station.

STATE MINING NEWS

ANOTHER STRIKE IN FAMOUS OLD SEVEN-THIRTY MINE

Nine Ton Shipment From Silver Plume Property Runs 463 Ounces Silver to Ton---Good Returns to Lessees. Leavenworth Mountain Developments.

GEORGETOWN, Colo., June 4.—The [illegible] located [illegible] Silver Plume [illegible] plenty of surprises to those [illegible] Johnson & [illegible] operating a block of ground [illegible] have opened up [illegible] from four to eleven inches in thickness. The first shipment [illegible] was made on Monday of this week [illegible] to the ton [illegible] After paying [illegible] expenses and treatment charges a net profit of [illegible] each ton of mineral.

There is [illegible] of virgin territory [illegible] expected [illegible] enormous [illegible] operations [illegible] carried on 140 feet above and east of the old workings and the [illegible] has been opened for a distance of [illegible] feet with over 200 feet of stoping around [illegible] to extract the ore.

This ore is being taken from a point not over 200 feet distant from where H. M. Griffin is said to have extracted more than $3,000,000 previous to 1893 and those who are familiar with these old workings state that this ore comes [illegible] another bonanza [illegible] has been discovered.

John Franklin & Co., who are also leasing in this property, have a big body of mineral exposed and shipments are now in order. Five tons delivered at the sampler on Monday gave average silver values of 11 ounces to the ton, or a net price in settlement of $[illegible] the ton. These leasers also have a block of virgin ground, 80 feet under the point from whence Johnson & Co. are taking out their high grade mineral.

Preisel & Co., leasing in the same property and who for months have had the best pay lease in upper Clear Creek district, are extracting a heavy tonnage of mineral which gives returns [illegible] that received by the foregoing lessees. These gentlemen are in close proximity to Johnson & Co., being just a few feet east, though ore is now being [illegible] working to insure continued shipments for at least two years. Some regardless [illegible] they open any additional ground [illegible]

Leasing operations have been inaugurated on the Leavenworth Mountain [illegible] the Silver [illegible] Lodge [illegible] who is managing the enterprise [illegible] is now making good headway [illegible] nearly 100 feet and a big [illegible] is being opened up [illegible] silver and lead values. This company [illegible] power plant will shortly be placed in [illegible]

Shipments from the [illegible] are going [illegible] and satisfactory returns are being received from the sampler. The roads are in fairly good condition and by the end of this week [illegible] will no doubt be in [illegible] that Roberts appears to have the best showing at the present time in this old property. His ore body measuring over [illegible] in thickness. Net returns [illegible] ounces in silver are being realized by this lessee.

Ton Lucas, who is operating a block of ground in the old [illegible] made a shipment of ten tons this week which returned an average of [illegible] ounces in silver to the ton. Mr. Lucas is operating near the point where the ore shoot was lost nearly fifteen years ago. He awaited his time and when the opportunity presented itself secured the privileges which he had so long desired. His ore body measures over eight inches and those who have seen the ground state that he will be able to extract a big tonnage of ore during the coming summer.—Daily Mining Record.

RICH STRIKE ON BIRDFIELD GROUP IN OPHIR DISTRICT

Big Values Are Mainly in Silver and Lead---Development Vigorously Prosecuted---Property Under Option to New York Parties.

TELLURIDE, Colo., June 4.—[illegible] richest strikes ever recorded [illegible] district was recently [illegible] Waterfall [illegible] quantities of [illegible] from [illegible] of Ophir. If [illegible] continues the property will become the richest producer in the county. While the values are almost solely silver and lead, yet they are sufficiently large as to yield an exceedingly handsome profit.

Since the rich ore was discovered, it has been the principal topic of discussion in that section and the people are pleased with the prospects of another producer being added to the shipping list. The ore runs 57 ounces of silver, 65 per cent lead and small values in gold per ton. [illegible] pay streak is 10 inches wide.

The group comprises 20 claims and is owned by August Anderson, Victor Fredlund and A. H. Myers. On the 6th of May they inaugurated work for the season in the main tunnel which has been driven on the vein into the mountain a distance of [illegible] feet. They had just gotten fairly started and had projected the bore [illegible] feet farther when the rich mineral was encountered. The vein is three feet wide and in addition to the rich 10-inch pay streak is composed of [illegible] one-half inches [illegible] ore with some [illegible]. Development work has since been vigorously prosecuted and the high grade ore [illegible] into the mountain as rapidly as possible and shipments of ore to the smelters will be made as it is taken out.

The property is [illegible] to Charles Hillman of this place and New York parties have been negotiating for [illegible] for the past six months [illegible] since the recent strike that the deal will be consummated at an early date and other steps will be taken to equip it with a tramway and other improvements necessary for the most economical and profitable operation. A placer claim, on which there is an excellent mill site is located in connection with the group. Crossing [illegible] Waterfall creek, carrying an abundance of water the year around and growing thereon is a plenteous quantity of timber for mining purposes. The property is developed by several tunnels driven in on the vein from the surface and there is enough mineral already blocked out to supply a good-sized mill steadily.

STRIKE MADE IN BULLION

BISMUTH ORE CARRYING HIGH VALUES IN GOLD AND SILVER VEIN IS 30 INCHES WIDE

DURANGO, Colo., June 4.—A rich strike has been made in the Bullion Mountain Mining company's mine in the Needle mountains. A vein of bismuth ore 30 inches wide has been opened up. The ore is unusually high grade and assays run as high as 400 ounces in silver, one ounce in gold and 16 per cent copper. The strike was made in a tunnel 400 feet from the portal and the vein was followed a distance of [illegible] feet when it widened to 30 inches. This [illegible] streak is found [illegible] lead which from surface indications appears to be about [illegible] feet wide. A crosscut has been run 4 feet and another streak of mineral two feet wide has been found. This however is of medium grade.

The mine shipped three cars of ore last fall and winter and has a large quantity piled up in the ore house ready for shipment. It is estimated that this is worth about $[illegible]. Superintendent John Bloom came down from the mine today and will take a few more miners back with him and the trail will be shoveled out and shipments commenced. Seven men worked all winter. The force will be increased to 14 or 15 men which is all that can be accommodated at present.

The Bullion Mountain Mining company is composed of eastern men mostly New Yorkers. Commodore E. M. Whiton, the general manager, director and principal stockholder is here superintending operations. The company has 33 patented claims.

The ore closely resembles the richest ore taken from the Yankee Girl, the Guston and National Bell at Red mountain several years ago.—Daily Mining Record.

NINETY-THREE FEET OF ORE IN TOLTEC, NEAR SILVERTON

Ore Runs Low but Is Easily Concentrated---Biggest Lead in San Juan District---Two Hundred Ton Mill for Mogul.

SILVERTON, Colo., June 4.—The Aztec Mining company has added several men to its working force on the [illegible] north of Silverton and development and production pushed.

The strike made a few weeks ago in the Toltec still holds out and the mine is proving a veritable quarry of mineral. The vein measures fully 93 feet in width [illegible] undoubtedly is the biggest mineral [illegible] ever encountered in San Juan [illegible] The ore is low grade, not averaging over [illegible] ton, but its softness makes its extraction [illegible] as [illegible] with the [illegible] to easily [illegible] mill on hand [illegible] five times [illegible] as could be [illegible]

To [illegible] kind of concentrating plant [illegible] three years [illegible] will be shipped [illegible] plant for treatment [illegible] will be [illegible]

NEWHOUSE TUNNEL MAY BE EXTENDED

TO BE DRIVEN SIX HUNDRED FEET TO CUT VEIN ON LOTUS GROUP. WILL UNWATER LARGE PROPERTY

IDAHO SPRINGS, [illegible] negotiations [illegible] of the Lotus group [illegible] Russell gulch and the Newhouse Tunnel company for the extension of the big tunnel for a distance of 600 feet to the Peck vein of the Lotus group. The main details have been arranged and the paper have been forwarded for the signature of the officers of the tunnel company in Denver and Salt Lake City. The Lotus group consists of [illegible] patented claims on Pewabic mountain in Russell gulch adjoining the Saratoga group of claims [illegible] is owned by [illegible] berger brothers of Philadelphia who also own 240 patented claims on the divide between Gilpin and Clear Creek counties up Fall river known as the Pennsylvania group. Owing to the excessive amount of water in the Lotus group veins operations have not been extensive nor practicable below a few hundred feet beneath the surface.

When the tunnel shall have intersected the Peck vein it is the intention of the owners to drive both east and west from the tunnel [illegible] for the purpose of unwatering the vein as well as to locate the extensions of known ore shoots which have been opened on the surface. It is stated that when the Newhouse tunnel [illegible] [illegible]—Daily Mining Record.

BONANZA ORE IN THE [illegible]

LARGE STREAK OF ORE RUNNING OVER TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS A TON—GOOD SHIPMENTS MADE

IDAHO SPRINGS, [illegible] 4.—A shipment of [illegible] from the Pike Rowe lease [illegible] Mattie [illegible] last Saturday netted $[illegible] carried [illegible] ounces of silver per ton. On Monday returns were received from two tons of second class which ran [illegible] ounces gold [illegible] ounces silver. A former shipment of first class this month netted over $2,200 and a total of 30 tons has been shipped during the month. Four men are employed. The returns from this lease have been good for a year and each month are better than the preceding. The members of the leasing pool are enjoying their success. This pool comprises seven local business men who have operated extensively for some time with excellent success.—Idaho Springs Mining Gazette.

The Silver Wing [illegible] property is located above the town of Eureka [illegible] busy with the object of making [illegible] the best [illegible] year of the mine's existence. The property [illegible] milling plant [illegible] with the next [illegible]

(To the memory of Mrs. Susan Roupe, who died in Colorado Springs, Colo., Sunday, May 28, 1905.)

Under tresses fair of silvery hair,
Time whitened years ago,
Lies the marbled brow as pallid now
As crests of winter snow.

The furrows there God smoothed with care,
As the heart-beats faint did cease,
And left in their place o'er the gentle face,
The bloom of eternal peace.

She died ere the dawn of a May day morn
Flushed the crest of the snowy Peak.
But they buried her far where Iowa's star
Her grave will guard and keep.

And there where the murmur of winds of summer,
And the fragrance of roses live,
Her loved will come to her lowbuilt home
And tears and a flower give.

She knew not of fame nor worldly blame,
But went on in her patient way,
It was not renown, but the Golden Crown
She strove for day by day.

Let enduring praise through endless days
Tell the blameless life she led—
It were better so than the blossoms' glow
One heaps o'er the cherished dead!

Lift not thy blue eyes to the bluer skies,
But sleep with the Heavenly blest,
Where no greater woe than a rose of snow
May fall on thy quiet breast!

So sleep, softly sleep, while the angels keep
Their love-watch where you rest;
Where no grief nor joy nor earth's alloy
Shall break the well-earned rest!

Then slumber on deep as the shadows creep,
Or the sun gleams over all;
Sleep long and well in the dreamless dell
Till waked by the Master's call!
